

Product Manager

The Job

- Help the team to keep improving Cimigo products by measuring, learning, and building features.
- Keep improving UI/UX by working with product designers and engineers.
- Analyze market information and user behavior data to determine what we need to do for improving our product.
- Interview and research the customers to figure out their problems.
- Gather requirements from different departments. (e.g. marketing, research, operation)
- Convert requirements to solutions that the development team can provide.
- Design workflow, write a specification, create a wire-frame to help to understand product requirements.
- Write documents or materials to share the product's update within the organization.
- Verifying product quality; Support UAT in testing.
- Determine the product's priority by communicating with the internal team (engineers, designers, other stakeholder) and considering business strategy and product strategy.

Skill & Experience

- +2 years of experience as a PM or PO in technical fields. (on-demand service, social network, e-commerce, etc)
- Familiar with agile software development and engineering culture.
- Having experience on developing products using NodeJS, ReactJS, AngularJS is a plus
- Have excellent speaking/writing skills in English.